

2025-2026 POETRY OUT LOUD EDUCATOR WORKSHOP

Saturday
December 6, 2025
9:00 AM - 10:30 AM

Online: Zoom

Poetry is The Language of Change

Led by poet and teaching artist Logan Phillips, this interactive session will both present and brainstorm new ideas for centering students' creative agency through the Poetry Out Loud program. We'll reconnect with what we have loved about participating in POL in the past, emphasizing its positive impact on classroom culture and bringing forward best practices for guiding our students in engaging with this year's revised anthology of poems. Tools and materials will be offered to aide in poem selection and presentation. We'll also look at strategies students can use to write alongside, or even against, poems: using their own writing for remixing, unsilencing, updating and creating meaning. Many of the available poems bring us to the past, yet our students belong the future. This year, how can we offer our students an opportunity to use their own writing as a bridge, so POL becomes not only a performance opportunity, but also a catalyst for reflection, dialogue, and creative change.
